

The Center for Applied Probability
at Columbia University
presents

The 16th Annual Applied Probability Day

Room 833 S.W. Mudd Building
FRIDAY, JULY 10th, 2009

1:00 - 1:15 Opening Remarks, Karl Sigman, Director of CAP

1:15 - 2:00 Masakiyo Miyazawa (Tokyo University of Science)

"Tail asymptotics for a Levy-driven tandem queue with an intermediate input and some related topics."

2:00 - 2:45 Bert Zwart (VU University of Amsterdam and Centrum Wiskunde & Informatica (CWI), The Netherlands)

"Time-dependent properties of symmetric queues."

2:45 - 3:15 Coffee Break

3:15 - 4:00 Mor Harchol-Balter (Computer Science Dept, Carnegie Mellon University)

"Surprising results on Task Assignment in Server Farms with High-Variability Workloads"

4:00-5:00 Wine Reception

This event is free. Please RSVP by emailing cap@columbia.edu

For further information: <http://www.cap.columbia.edu/>